

Why Firms Do Care If You Have a Mortgage as an Attorney

Employers value stability in both your career and your life. A home, a mortgage, and a family are all signs that you're stable and not going anywhere. When an employer learns that you're "settled down," this signals that you're committed and are likely to continue with the company over the long term. If there's a chance your interviewer thinks you're a flight risk, don't be afraid to indicate you have a stable home life.