

Alcohol Beverage Law Attorney

Summary: Learn more about what it is like to be a Alcohol Beverage Law attorney in this article.

Download a PDF of This Book

What Do Alcohol Beverage Law Attorneys Do?

- This practice area involves the law as it relates to alcoholic beverages like wine, beer, and spirits.
- Attorneys who work in this area assist wineries, breweries, distilleries, and other members of the alcohol beverage industry in complying with laws and regulations about the manufacture, distribution, and sale of alcoholic beverages.
- Alcohol beverage lawyers provide guidance on issues such as taxation, trademark and licensing, environmental compliance, and trade practices.
- They also negotiate and draft warehouse, storage, and vendor agreements.
- Many attorneys in this practice area have backgrounds in the government.
- Most attorneys in this practice area have an interest in this industry.

Why Do Alcohol Beverage Law Attorneys Enjoy Their Jobs?

- People who like this practice typically enjoy working at the intersection of government and business.
- They like the fact that this is an industry that is fairly recession proof.

What Are the Difficulties of Being an Alcohol Beverage Law Attorney?

- The attorneys who leave this practice typically do so because they do not like a government bureaucracy.
- They may also dislike the fact that it is difficult for many attorneys in this industry to stay busy consistently.

How Easy Is It to Move Laterally as an Alcohol Beverage Law Attorney?

- This is not a tremendously popular practice, and there is never a lot of demand from law firms for attorneys in this practice area.
- This is a difficult practice area for attorneys to move laterally in because there are not a lot of firms that do this work.
- To be successful in this practice area, attorneys should get a lot of business and fast.
- You need to have a real interest in this work and be committed to it to survive.

- The skills you learn here are unlikely to be all that marketable to many law firms.

See the current Alcohol Beverage Law job openings we are recruiting for here:
Alcohol Beverage Law Attorney Jobs