

BCG Attorney Search Recruiters Bring Expertise and Enthusiasm to NALP Conference

April 30, 2007

Pasadena, CA, – Recruiters from BCG Attorney Search, the largest legal recruiting firm in the U.S., shared their professional expertise at one of the legal recruiting industry's premier events, the NALP (National Association for Law Placement) Annual Education Conference, April 25-28, in Keystone, Colorado.

BCG's staff of expert legal recruiters, which includes many former attorneys from the country's most prestigious law firms, advised numerous conference attendees of the benefits of the company's exclusive legal recruiting services. In addition to legal recruiters, the annual event attracted participants representing law firms and law schools from across the U.S.

"Attending the NALP Annual Education Conference was an excellent opportunity for BCG recruiters to communicate with other members of the legal community. We're excited by the positive response we received from so many at the event," said BCG Attorney Search CEO A. Harrison Barnes.

The presence of BCG and its affiliate companies Law Firm Staff and LawCrossing generated a great deal of attention for their unmatched legal placement and recruiting knowledge, as well as another irresistible offering: the chance to win a Mini Cooper. The much-talked about car giveaway created impressive pre-conference buzz. Countless conference attendees waited patiently to submit their entries into the contest. By the conference's end, Andraea Carlson, the Lateral Recruiting Manager at Thompson Hine LLP in Cleveland was the winner of the sought-after Mini Cooper.

In addition to serving as a valuable networking opportunity, the NALP Annual Education Conference featured more than 90 educational programs on topics ranging from recruiting laterals and hiring and recruiting judicial clerks, to surveying students, and rebranding law firms. The Annual Education Conference is just one of the several events organized by NALP, which works throughout the year to provide its members with the latest information on legal recruiting and professional development, while promoting fair practices and diversity throughout the industry.
